Ex Armed Forces

Forced Out

Although homosexuality was decriminalised in the UK decades earlier, it remained illegal to be gay in the UK Armed Forces until 2000. Forced Out tells the story of the men and women who were dishonourably discharged from the Army, Navy and RAF because of their sexuality. Thousands faced intrusive interrogations by military police and many were imprisoned, had medals removed, and their service pensions revoked. Released to coincide with the findings of an independent government review, this film charts the historic battle for the ban to be overturned.

Anywhere. Somewhere.

While he rents out his house, Joel and Sam revel in the highs of their temporary living situation and the lows of cleaning up after strangers; as a newly single Tricia prepares for an empty nest, Sam is overcome with unexpected emotion.

Then, at poker night, Fred throws Sam, Joel and Tiffani a curveball; Sam attends a former voice teacher's concert in hopes of becoming her student again with unforeseen consequences; Tricia feels the effects of a small town filled with big talkers.

Meanwhile, Miami Heat are close to locking in the other side of the Eastern conference bracket against the New York Knicks, while the Western Conference sees the LA Lakers close to knocking out the reigning champions the Golden State Warriors, and the Denver Nuggets currently have a slim advantage against the Phoenix Suns.
